

The Island of St. Grgur

Between the islands of Rab, Goli and Prvić, lies the only green island covered mostly in macchia, the island of St. Grgur. The interesting places to dive are its north coast and the north and south capes.

Kalifront

On the west side of the island of Rab, about 300 meters from the lighthouse Kalifront towards the island of Cres, there is a shallow spot, Sušac, at 18 meters of depth. If you go towards the west, this shallow spot turns into a beautiful wall reaching 60 meters. In the shallow waters you can see the propeller of the American bomber B25 that crashed down on its return from a mission in WW II. The airplane wreck is at 80 meters, but it is unfortunately scattered around unintentionally by fishing nets. On the wall itself, the divers can see different species of fish including the European congers and the stonebass, otherwise quite rare in northern Adriatic.
